A New Era Begins!

Saturday, October 8, 2011
7:30pm at Weidner Center for the Performing Arts

Dukas: Fanfare to La Peri
Dvorak: Carnival Overture
Gershwin: Rhapsody in Blue
Saint-Saens: Symphony No. 3 ("Organ")

Genadi Zagor

Genadi Zagor, Piano
Donato Cabrera, Conductor

A new era begins when Donato Cabrera ascends the podium in his first concert as GBSO Music Director. Fanfares and festive overtures usher in the season, followed by the "bluesy" refrains found in one of America's most treasured works—George Gershwin's Rhapsody in Blue. To conclude, the thunderous 68-rank Weidner Center organ will alternate with blazing peals of brass in the colorful "Organ Symphony" of French Romantic composer Camille Saint-Saens.

Spotlight on Soloists

Saturday, November 12, 2011
7:30pm at Green Bay's historic Ralph Holter Auditorium
(Green Bay West High School)

Bach: Brandenburg Concerto No. 3
Shostakovich: Concerto for Piano, Trumpet, and Strings
Mozart: Sinfonia Concertante for Winds
Copland: Appalachian Spring

Lilya Zilberstein, Piano
Andrew Sewell, Conductor

Andrew Sewell

Lilya Zilberstein

The architectural grandeur and acoustical warmth of Green Bay's historic Ralph Holter Auditorium embrace musicians and audience alike in November. No stranger to local audiences, featured pianist Lilya Zilberstein brings to life the beautiful first piano concerto of Russia's Dmitri Shostakovich. Works by Bach and Mozart will transport you back in time to Germany's Baroque and Classical eras. Finally, you will return to 20th Century America for Aaron Copland's most famous work—heard here in its original version for 13 instruments.

Christmas at the Cathedral

Friday, December 23, 2011
7:30pm at St. Francis Xavier Cathedral (Downtown Green Bay)

Donato Cabrera, Conductor

The majestic space of St. Francis Xavier Cathedral is the perfect setting for a concert featuring the brass section of the GBSO and guests. This inspiring evening will feature sacred and festive music for the season just in time for the holiday weekend!

The Romance of Spring

Saturday, February 11, 2012
7:30pm at Weidner Center for the Performing Arts

Johann Strauss: Voices of Spring
Wagner: Siegfried Idyll
Tchaikovsky: Symphony No. 4

Donato Cabrera, Conductor

Whether the daffodils are blooming in Green Bay or not, Strauss' Viennese waltz will have you dancing barefoot in an Alpine meadow. Then, as the delicate strings soar through Wagner's Siegfried Idyll, so will your heart. Finally, few composers could transform the range of human emotion into a work as compellingly dramatic, yet beautiful, as did Peter Tchaikovsky in his Fourth Symphony—one of the great emotional and inspiring musical journeys in all of symphonic literature.

WELCOME!

Dear Friends,

It is with great pleasure that I welcome you to the 98th Season of the Green Bay Symphony Orchestra! We have many wonderful programs planned and I hope you will find them as exciting as I do.

I decided to introduce myself to you this year by offering just a sampling of some of my own favorite pieces and composers. We will also have some incredible guest artists joining us—many of them appearing with the GBSO for the very first time.

I look forward to becoming a part of the Green Bay community and encourage you to write me personally about what you like, what you don't like, and what you would like to hear in the future. My goal is to make the symphony a regular part of your life.

It is my sincere belief that great music adds greatness to our lives. Whether you're a regular at the symphony or a first-time attendee, a live, symphony concert is an experience beyond measure! Please join me for a season of outstanding music.

With warmest wishes,

Donato Cabrera
Music Director
Green Bay Symphony Orchestra
